PAC-12 TOURNAMENT STRUCTURE-SEEDING AND TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES

Seeding: The seedings and pairings shall be determined upon completion of regular season play on Saturday, March 9. The won-lost percentage record of the teams in regular season Conference play will determine tournament seedings. The team with the best won-lost percentage in Conference play will be seeded #1, the next best won-lost percentage in Conference play will be seeded #2, and so forth through all the seeds.

Tie-Breakers: Procedures for determining all tournament seeding will be:

Two-team tie

- Results of head-to-head competition during the regular season.
- Each team's record (won-lost percentage) vs. the team occupying the highest position in the final regular season standings, and then continuing down through the standings until one team gains an advantage.

When arriving at another group of tied teams while comparing records, use each team's record (won-lost percentage) against the collective tied teams as a group (prior to that group's own tie-breaking procedure), rather than the performance against individual tied teams.

- Won-lost percentage against all Division I opponents.
- Coin toss conducted by the Commissioner or designee.

Multiple-team tie

- Results (won-lost percentage) of collective head-to-head competition during the regular season among the tied teams.
- If more than two teams are still tied, each of the tied team's record (won-lost percentage) vs. the team occupying the highest position in the final regular season standings, and then continuing down through the standings, eliminating tied teams with inferior records until one team gains an advantage.

When arriving at another group of tied teams while comparing records, use each team's record (won-lost percentage) against the collective tied teams as a group (prior to that group's own tie-breaking procedure), rather than the performance against individual tied teams.

After one team has an advantage and is seeded, all remaining teams in the multiple-team tie-breaker will repeat the multiple-team tie-breaking procedure.

When the multiple-team tie is reduced to two teams, the two-team tie-breaking procedures will be applied.

- Winning percentage against all Division I opponents.
- Coin toss conducted by the Commissioner or designee.

Pac-12 Basketball Hall of Honor to Induct 2014-15 Class

The Pac-12 Conference will honor 11 former student-athletes and one former head coach with their induction into the Pac-12 Men's Basketball Hall of Honor. The induction will occur on Saturday, March 14, during a ceremony prior to the championship game at the 2015 Pac-12 Men's Basketball Tournament held at the MGM Grand Garden Arena in Las Vegas, Nev.

Fred Snowden, Arizona - Known for his high-octane offense and remembered as a trailblazer, Fred "The Fox" Snowden brought excitement to Arizona basketball during his 10-year tenure as the program's head coach. Snowden, who led the Wildcats from 1972-82, was the first African-American head basketball coach at an NCAA Division I institution, amassing a 167-108 mark. The 1973 Western Athletic Conference Coach of the Year, his career winning percentage of .607 has been topped by only three UA coaches since 1924. Nicknamed "The Fox" due to his cool demeanor, Snowden led Arizona to three postseason berths, including the 1975 National Commissioners' Invitational Tournament and the 1976 and 1977 NCAA Tournaments. His best season came in 1976, when the Wildcats went 24-9, won the Western Athletic Conference championship and advanced to the NCAA West Regional Final. The Brewton, Ala., native was the head coach who led Arizona into the Pac-10 in the 1978-79 season, guiding the program for its first four seasons in the Conference. Snowden also oversaw the transition into the McKale Center after its opening in 1973. He was inducted into the Arizona Sports Hall of Fame in 1988. Prior to his role at Arizona, Snowden was an assistant coach at Michigan. He also served on the coaching staff of his high school, Northwestern High School in Detroit, Mich., where he coached for five years after attending Wayne State University from 1954-58. Snowden passed away in 1994 at the age of 57.

Ron Riley, Arizona State - A native of Las Vegas, Nev., and graduate of Clark High School, Riley finished his career as Arizona State's leading career scorer with 1,834 in his four years as a Sun Devil. He played in 116 straight contests without missing a game, starting 109. He began his career with ASU as the top freshman scorer in the Pac-10 in 1992-93, and was named to the All-Freshman Team by the league's coaches. Riley was then the leading scorer in Arizona State's three NCAA Tournament games in 1994-95 as he led the Sun Devils to their first Sweet Sixteen appearance in 20 years. His senior campaign in 1995-96 saw him average 20.1 points per game, the best single-season scoring mark by a Sun Devil since Byron Scott averaged 21.6 in 1982-83. At the time of his departure, Riley was the only player in ASU history to record at least 1,600 points, 500 rebounds (579) and 200 steals (202) in his career. He spent 10 years as a professional basketball player, playing for various teams in multiple minor leagues including the Continental Basketball Association and the American Basketball Association, before retiring in 2005. Since his retirement, Riley has served as an assistant college basketball coach at the University of Great Falls in Montana, while earning a degree in psychology and social work and becoming a qualified mental health counselor. He is also founder and president of Team Riley Training LLC, which provides services for youth to improve their skills on the court and become successful student-athletes.

Sean Lampley, California - Lampley finished his career as Cal's all-time leading scorer with 1,776 points under his belt. Upon his graduation, he was the only player in school history to rank among the school's top 10 in scoring (first), rebounding (fourth) and assists (10th). Lampley was named Pac-10 Player of the Year in 2001 after averaging 19.5 points and 7.2 rebounds per game in his senior campaign, also earning AP All-America honorable mention accolades. In his sophomore season, he led Cal to the 1999 NIT Championship and was selected as the tournament's Most Valuable Player. Following his departure from Cal, Lampley was drafted by the Chicago Bulls in the 2001 NBA Draft, going in the second round as the 44th-overall pick. He spent seven years as a professional player, playing for the Miami Heat and the Golden State Warriors in the NBA and also for multiple minor-league teams, both internationally and in the United States, wrapping up his professional career in 2009.

Jim Davis, Colorado - A three-year letterman under the legendary Sox Walseth, Davis was a two-time first-team All-Big 8 honoree in his career with the Buffs. He scored 1,110 career points, which still ranks 25th on CU's all-time list, averaging 14.4 points and 11.2 rebounds per game with a .489 shooting percentage. Davis led the Buffs to a 53-24 record in his three years in Boulder, winning two Big 8 titles and earning two berths to the NCAA Tournament. He is also one of the few players in school history to average a double-double for two-consecutive seasons, with 13.8 points and 12.7 rebounds per game as a junior followed by 18.5 points and 12.7 rebounds per game in his senior season. At the time of his graduation, Davis was CU's all-time leading rebounder and third all-time scorer. Davis was a fourth-round selection by the Detroit Pistons in the 1964 NBA Draft, and eventually signed as a free agent with the St. Louis Hawks in 1967. He played eight seasons in all, scoring a total of 3,997 points in his career.

Anthony Taylor, Oregon - Taylor concluded his Oregon career as the school's second-leading scorer of all time with 1,939 points, which was seventh on the Pac-10's career list at the end of his senior season. He is one of just 13 Ducks to ever lead the league in single-season scoring after averaging 21.3 points per game as a senior in 1987-88, when he led Oregon to a 16-14 record and the second round of the National Invitation Tournament. Taylor is also one of only four players in school history to lead the team in scoring in three different seasons. He was named to the 1987 Pac-10 All-Tournament team after leading the Ducks to wins over USC and Arizona before falling in the semifinals. The Beaverton, Ore., native represented the United States in the 1987 World University Games and was drafted in the second round of the 1988 NBA Draft by the Atlanta Hawks before playing one year with the Miami Heat. The four-year letterman, who played at Oregon from 1985-88, still ranks in the UO career top-10 in scoring, field goals made, free throws made and steals.

Jim Jarvis, Oregon State - Jarvis was a three-year letterman for the Beavers from 1963-65, where he helped Oregon State reach the NCAA Tournament twice. In his first year at OSU, as a sophomore, Jarvis helped the Beavers go 22-9 and reach the NCAA Final Four, one of just two teams in program history to do so. As a junior, he averaged 13.9 points per game as Oregon State finished the year 25-4 with another NCAA Tournament appearance. Jarvis then led OSU in scoring as a senior, averaging 21.1 points per game while receiving All-American and All-AAWU Conference honors. He finished his three-year career as fourth on the school's all-time scoring list with 1,142 points, which is now the 26th highest total in Beaver history. He was also the 1964 Far West Classic MVP and was a 1963 All-Tournament selection. After his graduation, the Roseburg, Ore., native was drafted by the San Francisco Warriors in the 1965 NBA Draft and played for two years in the ABA, winning the 1968 ABA Championship as a member of the Pittsburgh Pipers. Upon retiring from playing, Jarvis became the basketball coach at Spokane

Falls Community College in 1971, then took over as the head coach at the University of Idaho. In the early 1990s, he served as a color analyst for Oregon State basketball games televised on cable. Jarvis was inducted into the State of Oregon Hall of Fame in 1987 and the Oregon State University Athletic Hall of Fame in 1991.

Casey Jacobsen, Stanford - Jacobsen, the first Cardinal player to be recognized as a First Team All-American by the Associated Press, was a three-time All-Pac-10 and two-time All-America selection in his three years with the Cardinal from 2000-02. His 1,723 career points rank fourth-best in school history while his scoring average of 18.1 points per game is sixth all-time. Jacobsen led Stanford in scoring three years in a row, including his junior season where he also led the Pac-12 in scoring, the first Cardinal to do so since Keith Jones in 1983-84. He was named Pac-10 Co-Freshman of the Year during the 1999-2000 campaign, averaging 14.5 points for the second-highest freshman total in school history. His sophomore year was highlighted by the AP First-Team All-America nod and second team All-America recognition by ESPN.com. Jacobsen also earned All-America accolades as a junior, where he shot at a .441 percentage and had a career-best 106 assists. He was drafted 22nd overall by the Phoenix Suns in the first round of the 2002 NBA Draft after foregoing his senior year, and played for three seasons with Phoenix. Jacobsen then played regularly for New Orleans and Memphis before electing to play overseas.

Dave Meyers, UCLA - Meyers was a three-year letterwinner at UCLA who led the Bruins to two NCAA titles in 1973 and 1975. A two-year starter in the Bruins' frontcourt, Meyers averaged 11.8 points in 89 career games, ranking 14th on UCLA's all-time scoring list with 1,046 career points. He helped the Bruins post a perfect 30-0 record in the 1972-73 campaign en route to winning the NCAA Championship. As a junior in 1973-74, Meyers averaged 11.4 points per game in all 30 contests as UCLA finished third at the NCAA Tournament. Meyers and UCLA responded the next season with a 28-3 record and the program's 10th NCAA title, which was also John Wooden's final UCLA team. He picked up consensus first-team All-America honors as well as All-Conference accolades after averaging 18.3 points per game as a senior. Following his UCLA career, Meyers was chosen as the No. 2 overall selection in the 1975 NBA Draft by the Los Angeles Lakers, making him one of just six UCLA players to have been selected No. 1 or 2 overall in the NBA Draft. He played four seasons in the NBA for the Milwaukee Bucks before choosing to retire in 1980.

Alex Hannum, USC - Hannum was a four-year letterman for the Trojans, playing in the 1942-43 season then returning for three years from 1946-48. An All-Southern Division first-team honoree as a senior, Hannum also picked up team Most Valuable Player accolades after serving as team captain and averaging 11.4 points per game in his final season with USC. He was also a member of the 1943 conference-champion USC team. After leaving USC, Hannam played with seven teams in the National Basketball League and the NBA from 1949-57, but he found true success as a head coach. He led five different NBA teams (St. Louis Hawks, Syracuse Nationals, San Francisco Warriors, Philadelphia 76ers and San Diego Rockets) and two ABA teams (Oakland Oaks and Denver Rockets/Nuggets) over the span of 16 years. He remains the only coach in professional basketball history to win titles in both the NBA and ABA, picking up NBA titles in 1958 with St. Louis and 1967 with Philadelphia before winning the ABA championship in 1969. Hannum coached 12 future Hall of Famers en route to his induction into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in 1998. He was the 1964 NBA Coach of the Year and 1969 ABA Coach of the Year, and was enshrined in the USC Athletic Hall of Fame in 2001. He passed away in 2002 at the age of 78.

Danny Vranes, Utah - One of just seven players to have his number retired by the Utes, Vranes was an All-American in 1981 as well as a four-time All-Western Athletic Conference honoree and a member of Utah's All-Century Team. He led the Utes to three NCAA Tournament appearances, including two Sweet 16s, in his tenure in Salt Lake City, going 86-31 overall and 44-12 in conference games. The Utes also won a WAC title his senior year and ended the season ranked 14th in the nation. He also played in the 1979 Pan American Games in San Juan, where he helped the United States win the gold medal. After college, Vranes was selected as the No. 5 overall pick in the 1981 NBA Draft by the Seattle SuperSonics. He would go on to play seven seasons and was named to the All-Defensive Team in 1985. Vranes also played four years overseas in Greece and Italy.

Jon Brockman, Washington - A four-year letterwinner for UW from 2005-09, Brockman is the current record holder for career rebounds with 1,238 boards, also posting 1,805 career points which is the third-best total in school history. He was the first Husky ever and fourth Pac-12 player to surpass 1,800 career points and 1,200 rebounds, and was the first player to lead UW in rebounding for four-straight seasons. The 2009 Pac-10 Tom Hansen Conference Medal Winner, Brockman also was a two-time first-team All-District by Basketball Times, the NABC and the USBWA. He also picked up honorable mention All-America accolades as a senior, along with first-team All-Pac-10 honors. On the court, Brockman led the Huskies to their first outright Pac-10 title in 2007, and first outright championship in any league since winning the Pacific Coast Conference 56 years prior. The Huskies advanced to the Sweet 16 his freshman season and to the NCAA second round in his senior campaign. Brockman was selected as the 38th pick in the 2nd round of the 2009 NBA Draft by the Portland Trailblazers, and played with the Sacramento Kings, Milwaukee Bucks and Houston Rockets.

Bennie Seltzer, Washington State - Seltzer spent four years at Washington State from 1989-93 and finished as the school's career leader in three-point field goals made with 230, which also set a Pac-12 record. The four-year starter and three-time captain was an immediate contributor as a freshman, leading the team in assists with 114 and earning Pac-10 All-Freshman Team honors. He also led the team in assists as a sophomore, then followed with a junior season where he helped WSU to a 22-11 record, the most wins in nine years, and an NIT appearance. As a senior, Seltzer averaged 17.9 points, 4.0 rebounds and 4.7 assists to garner USBWA All-District 8 and All-Pac-10 First Team honors. In addition to being the all-time leader in three-point field goals made and attempted, going 230-for-585 from beyond the arc in his career, Seltzer also closed his career third in scoring at WSU and first in assists, becoming the first player in school history to record four-straight seasons with 100-plus assists. Following his Cougar career, he spent four seasons playing professionally overseas before joining the coaching staff at Oklahoma. He spent nine years at OU, two at Marquette and four at Indiana before becoming the head coach at Samford from 2012-14.

SEATTLE – Stanford senior guard Taylor Greenfield scored a career-high 20 points and the Cardinal shot an efficient 44 percent from the field Sunday night en route to a 61-60 win over the Golden Bears in the conference tournament's championship game. The victory gives Stanford the Pac-12's automatic bid for the NCAA women's tournament.

The victory propelled the 19th-ranked Cardinal (24-9) to 7-0 against Cal (23-9) in the tournament's history, including 3-0 in title games. Barring a matchup against its Bay Area foes in the NCAA tournament, it also gave the third-seed Cardinal a win in the season series after the teams split and finished tied for third in conference play.

The final score made it seem closer than it was.

Cal trailed by four when sophomore guard Mercedes Jefflo, who finished with 16 points, buried a three-pointer from the top of the key moments before the final horn sounded, closing the deficit to one.

A few minutes later, confetti fell and Greenfield was named the tournament's Most Outstanding Player. She is the first non-starter to win the award in the tournament's 14-year history.

"I hate to say I imagined it, but I knew it was possible," Greenfield said of winning the award. "That's not what I was looking for, but if that's what it took, I'll take it."

Or, as Stanford forward Kaylee Johnson put it:

"Well, we've kind of coined the nickname 'Tournament Taylor,' so I guess she's just living up to that," she said. "But I think (coach Tara VanDerveer) is always emphasizing how sometimes different people need to step up in different games, and I think Taylor really showed that this weekend."

It marked the Cardinal's 11th time winning the tournament, as it improved to an incredible 37-3 during that stretch.

"Our theme this year has kind of been to crash some parties, and I think that's exactly what we did here," Greenfield said.

After trailing 25-23 at the half, Stanford opened the second half with five quick points when Greenfield hit a three and Johnson, who finished with 12 rebounds, followed with a layup to make it 28-25. The Cardinal outscored Cal 38-35 in the second half.

"We didn't necessarily play a pretty game, but a gritty game," said Stanford coach Tara VanDerveer.

The Golden Bears were led by sophomore forward Courtney Range, who finished with a team-high 17 points and nine rebounds.

PAC-12 IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT

The Pac-12 Conference has won more NCAA basketball titles (16) than any other conference in the country . . . Oregon's Tall Firs won the first NCAA Championship in 1939. Stanford claimed the national title in 1942, followed by Utah in 1944 and California in 1959 . . . UCLA established a basketball dynasty that included 10 titles in 12 seasons and a winning streak of seven consecutive NCAA crowns. The Bruins' 11 basketball championships are double what any other school has ever won . . . In 1997, Arizona became the sixth different Pac-12 institution to capture the NCAA basketball title.

PAC-12 IN THE NIT & CBI TOURNAMENTS

The Pac-12 has had considerable success in the National Invitation Tournament (NIT), as five current members have captured the NIT crown - Colorado (1940), Utah (1944), UCLA (1985), Stanford (1991 and 2012) and California (1999). Colorado also finished second in 1991, as did Utah in 1974. Meanwhile third-place finishes were turned in by Oregon in 1975 and 2004, Colorado in 1955 and 2011, Utah 1992 and Washington State in 2011. The league now stands at 88-74 (.543) in America's original postseason tourney. The records of all Pac-12 members in the NIT:

College Basketball Invitational: The 16-team field was created for the 2007-08 season and in just the second year of its existence, Oregon State captured the postseason crown. The Pac-12 made it two-in-a-row as Oregon followed with a CBI title of its own in 2011. Washington State reached the championship round in 2012, marking the third time in the tournament's four-year existence that a Pac-12 team played for the CBI title.
