COMPLETE
STUDENT ATHLETE

Pac-12 students are known for their athletic success, but they are also impressive, complete people with outside interests, diverse backgrounds, extracurricular activities, interesting families, busy schedules, and full lives. The release for this week's competition is focused on who Stanford students are in the classroom and community.

ACADEMIC SPOTLIGHT

See page 3 of notes for full list of academic honors, community service projects and internships listed by student-athlete. Below is a small sampling.

- Jenna Frowein is majoring in architecture with a minor in art practice. She's pursuing a co-terminal master's degree in sustainable design and construction (structural engineering)
- Danielle McNair and Nicolette McNair Interned at an alternative medicine and nutritionist private practice during the summer of 2015
- Rachel Daum serves as a student-athlete liaison for the Student-Athlete Leadership Team for the Pac-12 (2015)
- Elizabeth Price arrived to Stanford early before her freshman year to participate in the Stanford Summer Engineering Academy to get a head start on classes

COMMUNITY CORNER

More community service details are listed on page 3 of the notes.

- Freshman Taryn Fitzgerald was a member of the National Charity League from 2009-15, volunteering for the Susan G. Komen Foundation, Meals on Wheels, ARC, Texas Children's Hospital and various other groups
- Ivana Hong created a gymnastics physical education curriculum to be implemented in local schools in 2015
- Melissa Chuang works with Project Dosti, a Stanford student group, in order to bring student-teachers to rural India to teach English during the summer
